

If you want to watch something that's good and has a great story line, then you will like this movie. It is about a girl called Hichki and her journey in becoming the first deaf Indian gymnast in the Olympics. The film starts out with where she is now at 16 years old and then flashes back to 8-year-old Hichki. It shows how she overcomes many struggles such as people thinking she can't do things because of her disability and struggle with school life. If you like movies that make you feel good when watching them, this will be perfect for you. I give the movie Hichki 5 stars because it was very entertaining and had a great storyline. The film kept me interested and made me feel all the different emotions that the characters were going through in the movie. I really enjoyed how real the film felt and although it was a true story, it made it seem like a fictional movie. I also really liked how this film showed how Hichki had to overcome many obstacles in her life just because of her disability. She had to endure many things such as bullying from other kids when they teased her for being deaf, not being able to understand teachers when teachers were teaching in class or making fun of her from other students when she was trying to learn something in school. I also really liked how the film smoothly transitioned from the 8-year-old Hichki, to 16-year-old Hichki and then finally to the present where she is now a top gymnast in the world. I thought this was a great film because it had a very interesting storyline and I could really relate to all of the characters in this film. I also thought that all of the performances were great in this movie as well as special effects. The effects for Hichki were amazing because it made me feel like I was watching something out of a movie and not real life, which makes it even more enjoyable. I really liked how realistic this film was and it had me on the edge of my seat the whole time that I was watching it. The only thing that I did not like about this movie was how slow it started out in the beginning. It took a while for me to get into the story and I didn't understand why we were flashing back and forth between Hichki's life when she was 8 years old, and her life when she is 16 years old. This made me think that we were going to see Hichki when she got older but we never did. There were also some parts of the film that I thought were a little slow and the editing could have been better, but other than those minor things, this movie was great. I recommend this movie to people who like movies with great storylines and good acting as well as people who like realistic films as well as those who like movies that make you feel good while watching them. The Hichki movie is about an 8-year-old girl named Hichki (Divya Jagdale). She is deaf and attends a school for the deaf where she gets bullied a lot by her peers because of it.
